AIR UNIVERSITY—FY00 ENGAGING THE NEW MILLENNIUM

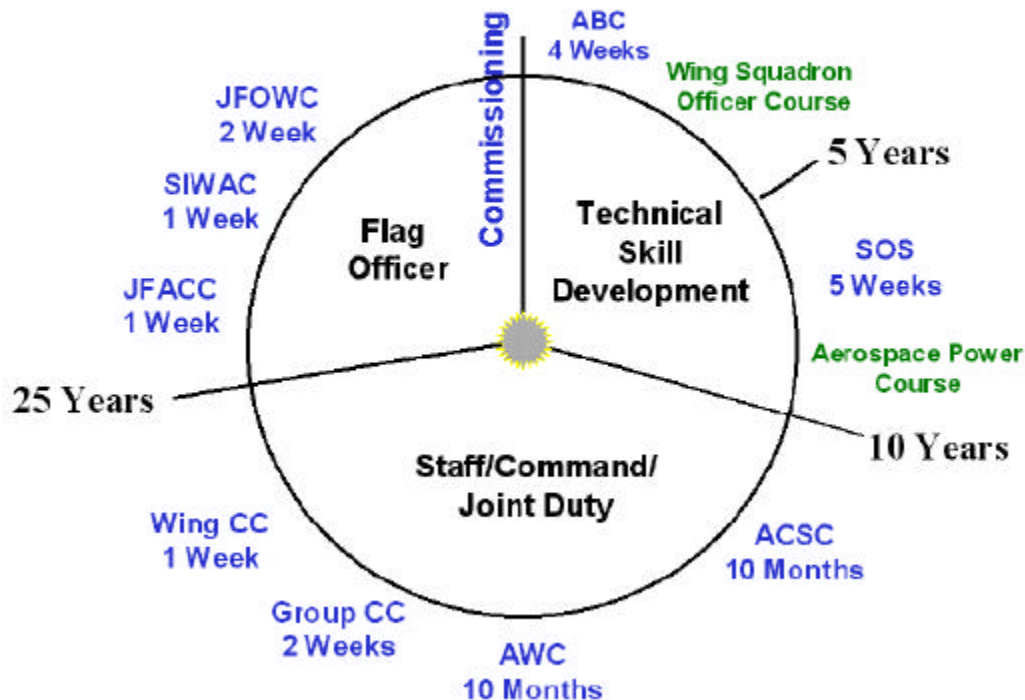

- Air University (AU) is preparing Air Force and other DoD officers, enlisted members, and civilians for the technology and complexities of the 21st century through its “continuum of education”: from pre-commissioning to commissioning to professional continuing education to professional military education. This is a building-block approach where officer and enlisted programs are linked together in their respective tracks.
- AU is responsible for research in designated fields of aerospace education and leadership and management, and contributes to the development and testing of Air Force doctrine, concepts and strategy.
- The diligent efforts to gain authority from Congress to confer a Master of Military Operational Art and Science degree to Air Command and Staff College (ACSC) and a Master of Strategic Studies degree to Air War College (AWC) in-residence graduates became a reality at the end of FY99.
- The School of Advanced Airpower Studies (SAAS) obtained congressional authority to confer the Master of Airpower Art and Science degree upon SAAS graduates in 1994. In September 1999, SAAS moved from under the command of ACSC to become a separate organization; the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools accredited SAAS in December 1999.
- Prior to deciding on a career in the Air Force, many young people receive education through AU programs: The Civil Air Patrol, Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) and Air Force ROTC programs.

AIR FORCE OFFICER ACCESSION AND TRAINING SCHOOLS

- AU's "continuum of education" for officers begins with the precommissioning sources—Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (JROTC), Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) and Officer Training School (OTS)—organized under the Air Force Officer Accession and Training Schools (AFOATS).
- The AFOATS commander provides coordinated leadership and policy direction for two of the three Air Force commissioning programs: Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) and Officer Training School (OTS).
- Nearly 80% of all newly commissioned officers begin their careers after completing AFROTC or OTS.

AIR FORCE JUNIOR RESERVE OFFICER TRAINING CORPS (JROTC)

- Program which provides citizenship training with no military obligation to students in 654 high schools nationwide and DoD schools overseas. Air Force Junior ROTC touches more than 103,000 young people every day. The program will expand to 945 total high schools over the next several years.
- Junior ROTC prepares high school students world-wide with an education in civic responsibility, national and community service, and general military orientation. Program emphasizes self-discipline, citizenship, personal responsibility, family and social values, and a sound work ethic.

Source of Data:

Capt Birdsey, AFOATS/CXY

AIR FORCE RESERVE OFFICER TRAINING CORPS (AFROTC)

- AFROTC is the largest and oldest source of commissioned officers for the Air Force.
- During FY00, produced 2,113 new officers for the Air Force and had over 13,500 cadets enrolled in the program through 142 detachments across the US. These newly commissioned officers included 513 pilot candidates, 191 navigator candidates, and 88 non-line officers.
- Production set at 2,000 line officers through the future years defense plan (FYDP). ROTC expects to produce 70 to 100 new Medical Service and Chaplain corps members each year through the FYDP.
- AFROTC also commissions enlisted members through its Airman Education and Commissioning Program (AECP).
- AFROTC anticipates commissioning 2,077 officers in FY01, including 520 pilot candidates, 210 navigator candidates, and 77 non-line officers.
- Is the largest source for engineers and other critical Air Force career fields.

OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL (OTS)

- Is the flexible commissioning source that trains and commissions quality officers through the Basic Officer Training (BOT) program. The Commissioned Officer Training (COT) course orients newly commissioned non-line officers to the Air Force.
- OTS includes officership and leadership education for basic officer trainees as well as medical personnel, lawyers, chaplains, and medical scholarship recipients who receive their commissions prior to attending OTS.
- In FY00, BOT commissioned 1,157 active duty basic officer trainees and anticipates commissioning 1,780 in FY01.
- In FY00, COT trained 1,385 newly commissioned officers in the Medical Service, Judge Advocate, and Chaplain corps and anticipates training 1,573 commissioned officers in FY01.

Capt Birdsey, AFOATS/CXY

SQUADRON OFFICER COLLEGE

- Squadron Officer College (SOC) stood up on 8 February 2000. The SOC provides professional military education for the entire Company Grade Officer (CGO) corps through the Aerospace Basic Course and Squadron Officer School.
- SOC student population is comprised of second lieutenant (ABC) and captains (SOS), including a total force mix of reserve and guard officers and DoD civilians for both schools. In addition, international officers attend SOS.
- SOC offered a total of 12 classes throughout the year, 7 SOS and 5 ABC. SOC throughput for FY00 was 4,042 students.
- In March, SOC began an extensive renovation project of the current academic facility, expanding flightrooms to better accommodate the flight make-up of 13 students. SOC is increasing the number of available flightrooms from 40 to 94 to meet future throughput requirements.

Capt Luiken, SOC/CCE

AEROSPACE BASIC COURSE (ABC)

- Aerospace Basic Course is the primary level professional military education for new officers. It was developed to forge a change in AF culture by emphasizing the airman's perspective in military studies, core values, and profession of arms--all with a team concept.
- Aerospace Basic Course was chartered by Corona in 1996, developed in 1997 with a 7-week format, reformatted in 1998 into a 4-week course, and additional refinements made to the 4-week course in August 2000.
- Blue Thunder II is ABC's capstone war game in which students battle against an opposing student flight for air dominance.

Source of Data:

Capt Luiken, SOC/CCE

SQUADRON OFFICER SCHOOL (SOS)

- SOS graduated 3,262 students in FY00. This was the first year SOS shortened its resident course from 7 to 5 weeks. The school also increased the number of classes offered per year from five to seven in order to meet Air Force throughput requirements. Beginning in CY01, SOS will start teaching a revised experiential learning based curriculum that focuses on leadership and the profession of arms. The curriculum will be aligned with the continuum of education and include military history, international studies and communication skills.
- SOS provides a nonresident program for eligible officers and civilians who haven't attended SOS in residence. On average, 6,000 students are enrolled in the program, which is available in hardcopy or multimedia format. This nonresident program is particularly important for Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard personnel who comprise 70 percent of the annual enrollees.

DAYTON AREA GRADUATE STUDIES PROGRAM (DAGSI)

The requirement for DAGSI primarily relates to the need for enhanced economic development in the region, particularly in the aerospace, automotive and related high technology industrial sectors. An environment conducive to substantial economic development can be achieved by improving and expanding regional educational and research opportunities at the masters and doctoral level of engineering and computer science. With this goal, the three partnership institutions have combined the resources of their schools of engineering to form DAGSI

The DAGSI program involves only the following schools and colleges of the partner institutions:

- * The University of Dayton, School of Engineering
- * The Air Force Institute of Technology, Graduate School of Engineering
- * Wright State University, College of Engineering and Computer Science

The respective Deans of these schools are principal collaborators in the DAGSI partnership, and are members of the Operating Committee controlling DAGSI's management and technical operations. It follows that the course offerings, faculty, laboratories and most other Resources made available to DAGSI graduate students emanate from and are assets of these schools. Further, the types and levels of degrees that may be pursued by a DAGSI student are also limited to those offered by the engineering schools. All DAGSI students are graduate-level, which means that an MS student must have an appropriate BS degree, and a Ph.D. student must also meet the pre-requisite requirements of his or her Home Institution for the selected program of study.

NOTE: DAGSI students are separate from the Regular graduated education programs, and have no Air Force Education Requirements Board quotas against their billets. Students may be military or civilian.

HISTORY OF MAXWELL AIR FORCE BASE-GUNTER ANNEX

Monument to the Wright brothers biplane shed in Montgomery, AL in 1910

In early 1910, a group of influential businessmen in Montgomery, Alabama, offered Wilbur Wright an old cotton plantation in exchange for establishing a flying school in the city. Shortly thereafter, Wilbur Wright opened one of the world's earliest flying schools at the site that would subsequently become Maxwell Air Force Base (AFB). Orville Wright recorded the first powered flight in Montgomery on March 26, 1910. The first recorded heavier-than-air night flights in aviation history also occurred at the Alabama field on May 25, 1910. However, the school closed just three days later and nearly eight years passed before flying activities resumed in Montgomery.

During World War I, the US Army established numerous military flying training fields and aviation repair depots around the country. In April, 1918, local business leaders leased 302 acres of land and a portion of the Frank D. Kohn plantation to the US Government for use as an aviation repair depot. Affectionately known as "Wright Field," this was the same site used by the Wright brothers in 1910. The government purchased the site in 1920 for $34,327.

The field went through five name changes during the next four years. The installation's first official name was the Engine and Repair Depot (April 1918). In September, the name changed to the Engine and Plane Repair Depot #3. The depot became the Aviation Repair Depot in March 1919.

In January 1921, the depot became the Montgomery Air Intermediate Depot. Further, the War Department redesignated the depot as Maxwell Field in November 1922, in honor of 2d Lieutenant William C. Maxwell. Lieutenant Maxwell, a native of Atmore, Alabama, died on August 12, 1920, in the Philippines when his DH-4 aircraft struck a flagpole after he had swerved to avoid striking a group of children at play.

In the summer of 1931, the Air Corps Tactical School moved from Langley Field, Virginia, to Maxwell Field. Though its basic mission was to educate air officers in the strategy, tactics, and techniques of air power, the school also became involved in the development of air doctrine. In fact, brilliant young officers such as Claire Chennault, Muir S. Fairchild, Harold L. George, Haywood Hansell, Lawrence Kuter, Kenneth Walker, Robert Webster, and Donald Wilson developed aerial warfare doctrines, strategies, and tactics used against the enemy during World War II. In addition, the school produced 261 of the 320 Army Air Forces (AAF) general officers who served on V-J Day, including three four-star generals and eleven of thirteen three-star generals. However, wartime requirements for well educated and trained officers proved too great the Army Air Forces transferred the AAF to Maxwell on November 29, 1945, and assigned it as a major command. On March 12, 1946, the school was redesignated as Air University (AU). Throughout its history, the basic mission of AU has been to develop future planners and leaders of the US Air Force. It continues that proud tradition today as a major component of Air Education and Training Command (AETC).

Meanwhile, on October 1, 1994, HQ AETC inactivated the 502 Air Base Wing at Maxwell AFB and replaced it with the 42 Air Base Wing. The wing was further assigned to AU. The 42 Air Base Wing now serves as the host unit for Maxwell AFB and nearby Gunter Annex. Its primary mission is to provide support for Air Force mission requirements, AU, and the Maxwell-Gunter community.

Gunter was activated initially in August 1940 to serve as a basic flying school site. At the peak of training in 1944, aircraft assigned to Gunter had almost reached 400. In January 1946, Gunter's aircraft were transferred to Maxwell. The consolidation of many mission support activities between Maxwell and Gunter over the years impacted Gunter's identity as a separate, self-sustaining installation. On March 10, 1992, Gunter Air Force Base, which was assigned to Maxwell for Real Property jurisdiction, control, and accountability, was renamed to permit the continuation of academic pursuits and the school was discontinued on October 9, 1942.

On July 8, 1940, the War Department created the Southeast Air Corps Training Center, headquartered at Maxwell Field, to manage the growing number of flying schools in the United States. The War Department redesignated the center as the AAF Eastern Flying Training Command on August 23, 1943. Throughout the war, Maxwell was home to six different schools that trained US military aviators and crews for wartime service. More than 100,000 aviation cadets graduated from these schools during the war.

Headquarters Standard Systems Group (SSG) was activated in January 1995. They are the focal point for planning, establishing, and managing Air Force and Department of Defense contracts for specially developed software and commercial off-the-shelf hardware and software programs for communications and computer systems. SSG manages over 130 standardized computer programs in support of major commands and base requirements.
